Work and Workers.

PROFESSOR EDWIN D. STARBUCK, PH.D., the author of the well-known and highly useful volume on the Psychology of Religion, who also contributes to this issue a keen and appreciative criticism of Professor James's great work, The Varieties of Religious Experience, has been appointed director of the newly established educational department at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind. During the past year Dr. Starbuck has been in Europe pursuing special investigations in psychology and education.

THE Extra Volume of the Hastings Dictionary of the Bible was issued by the publishers (Messrs. T. & T. Clark, Edinburgh; Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York) on July 20, completing this great biblical encyclopædia. The supplemental volume is uniform in size and appearance with the preceding four volumes, and reaches nearly 1,000 pages. The price is the same as for the other volumes, $6 bound in cloth, $8 in half morocco. The contents consist of thirty-seven long articles upon great subjects of biblical history and interpretation, such as: "The Religion of Israel," by Professor Kautzsch; "The Religion of the Babylonians and Assyrians," by Professor Jastrow; "The Religion of the Egyptians," by Professor Wiedemann; "The Religion of Greece and Asia Minor," by Professor Ramsay; "Semites," by Professor McCurdy; "Philo," by Professor Drummond; "Josephus," by Mr. Thackeray; "The Dispersion," by Professor Schürer; "New Testament Times," by Professor Buhl; "The Sermon on the Mount," by Professor Votaw; "The Didache," by Professor Bartlet; "The Diatesaron," by Dr. Kenyon; "Revelation," by Professor Garvie; and many others. In fact, the Extra Volume is quite the most important of the five, because it deals with leading comprehensive themes upon which recent knowledge and study have had most influence. Besides these articles, there are full indexes for the entire work of subjects, texts, Hebrew words, Greek words, and authors. A series of highly valuable maps, especially revised for this volume by Professors Ramsay and Buhl, are given, on "The Road System of Palestine," "The Ancient East," "Chief Routes of the Roman Empire," and "Asia Minor in 50 A. D." Those who have the first four volumes of this Dictionary of the Bible will need the Extra Volume to supplement them.
